Then again the Pilot is "inclined to think his dust belongs where it was laid—in his own neighborhood, among his own people." It is likely that Hanover county is more the neighborhood of Patrick Henry than the over county is more the neighborhood of Patrick Henry than the county in which he is buried. It is the county of his birth and was the home of his childhood and manhood, and probably the most if not all of prosperity which it is possible to and probably the most, if not all, of prosperity which it is possible to the public service he rendered to the reach until this road question is set-State was given while he was a resi. tled and settled by more work and dent of Hanover county. Therefore, less talk. Campbell county, where he is buried is not so much his home as Hanover county. But he was altogether a Virginian, and while he would be at home anywhere in Virginia. we think the muskets and carbines and who used the salves in the sixtes, and they were incapable of wilfully slight.

Country, and of the banquet given at the Opera House by the Masons of Fredericksburg Lodge, No. 4, and they were incapable of wilfully slight.

CHAS used the sabres in the sixties, and they were incapable of wilfully slighting their gallant leader who is the hero of so many hard fought battles and who won additional honors during the Spanish war. And no one knows this better than General Wheeler himself, which he will no doubt feel upon reflection, and regret his hasty action. But however deeply he may regret the circumstance and his sudden departure from the city we are confident that it cannot be equal to the mortification of his comrades who are responsible.

The Clyde Line Steamship Company has decided to leave Richmond, and will lad its last steamer there Monday, and after that at Newport News. No official statement has been made, but such is the pair, according to good authority. The tardiness of the City Council in making an appropriation to clear the channel is believed to have been the determining cause in the company's decision. The work of dredging the harbor is now under way, but progress was very slow, and the Clyde Line Steamship Company has decided to leave Richmond, and will lad its last steamer there Monday, and after that at Newport News. No official statement has been made, but such is the patronage of our people.

What does Mr. Roosevelt mean by his Tacoma Speech? In it he asserts: "I propose to be president this term the city we are confident that it cannot be equal to the mortification of his comrades who are responsible."

What does Mr. Roosevelt mean by his Tacoma Speech? In it he asserts: "I propose to be president this term to about 300 streedores and out of the harbor. They give employment to about 300 streedores and out of the harbor. They give employment to about 300 streedores and out of the harbor. They give employment to about 300 streedores and out of the harbor. The Chamber of Commerce will end to be the grandest ever held in the city we are confident that it cannot be equal to the mortification of his comrades who are responsible.

I would rather be president for three and a half years than half president for seven and a half years." It would appear from this that the politicians are endeavoring to exact promises from Mr. Roosevelt before his nomination that he is unwilling to make and fif made would deprive him of half his power as President.

Dr. White, secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Church Erection, has been studying the question of church building, and concludes that for 1902 a church edifice waserected and dedicated for every working hour, and forty millions of dollars were expended. The ratio of church building per day is stated to be, the Methodists, three; Baptists, two; Lutherans and Roman Catholics, one and a half each; Presbyterians, one; Congregational, three-quarters. Several smaller do nominuations are aggregated at one.
